Homing in on the win

Midget Avalanche player Warren Plunkie has his game face on as he waits for the puck to drop in a faceoff against a Smoky Lake player in the second game of their two-game, total-point provincials playoff series

Midgets off to Provincials

Review Sports

"The harder the conflict the more glorious the triumph."

Quoted by Thomas Paine, truer words were never spoken when it comes to the Midget Avalanche provincial playoff run. For the last two years the Avalanche have had a run-in with their nemesis, Smoky Lake in the provincial round robin, and two years in a row Smoky Lake has sent our boys packing, with long faces. Both times the games were very close, the two-game, total-point series decided by only a goal or two; but it still stings for a very long time when you lose a series, especially losing to the same guys over and over.

This year when the draw came out from Hockey Alberta, sure enough, the two teams would meet once again. Would it be déjà vu all over or would this be the year the boys would go to the big show?

Tied after the first game in Smoky, the tension was mounting all week long and you could really feel the vibes as the arena filled up to the rafters Thursday night, with parents and kids from all of our minor hockey teams who came to show their support. With the music blaring, the boys were determined not to disappoint their fans or be intimidated by the bigger, meaner team who always seemed to have their number.

Elk Point 4-H Multi Club and Elk Point 4-H Beef Club held back-to-back communications events on Sunday, as they prepared to take on the other clubs in the St. Paul 4-H District on Sunday, Feb. 21.

The Multi Club was first to speak out, with six speakers and three demonstrations on the agenda at their event in Elk Point Elementary School.

Shaylyn Klatt was the lone Junior speaker, with a prepared speech entitled 'My Super Dog Ariel' and an impromptu on her favourite room at home.

Carson Vogel spoke on the fun of 'Winter Camping' and the dangers of using cell phones while driving to place first in the Intermediate group, where Wolke Cueva placed second with 'My Trip to Ecuador' and his thoughts on controlling the weather.

Nolan Vogel gave an entertaining look at 'How to be a Ricer,' followed by tips on how to run a successful 4-H meeting to lead the Senior division. New member Graham Lenthall placed second with his adventures in meeting 'The Eccentric Millionaire' and comments on today's economy. Also competing in the Senior group was Lyon Cueva, who answered the question, "Why is there no sound in space?" and spoke on the benefits of judging workshops.

Darianna Boorse, with a presentation on her collection of Shopkins, placed first in Junior Presentations, with Eros Cueva, who showed 'How to make the best caramel popcorn ever' and even offered samples, placing second. Senior Morgan Evans proved exceptionally knowledgeable in her presentation on 'Preparing Your Sheep for Show."

Three first-time judges, Shani Jurak, Gloria Lecopoy and Melanie Poulin, determined the winners, with Tracy Vogel serving as teller, Darryl Klatt as timer and Crystal Boorse in charge of the Impromptu table. Poulin felt the speakers had all done "an excellent job. I really enjoyed it." She suggested they use hand gestures and "don't just read your speech."

Mistress of ceremonies MacKenzie Evans offered the audience a variety of information about the club and about 4-H's communications program in between the speeches and presentations to round out the event.

Chamber executive re-elected by acclamation

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is ready for another year, with their 2016 executive in place, memberships beginning to trickle in and a pair of new bylaws passed at last week's Annual General Meeting.

The 2015 executive, president Jonny Nielsen, vice president Dwayne Yaremkevich, treasurer Geoff Hyslop and secretary Vicki Brooker, were all returned to their posts by acclamation.

Membership fees for 2016 were set at last year's annual meeting, with a $50 membership fee for individuals or home-based businesses with no employees as well as the $100 fee for business membership. Membership application forms were sent out in late January.

Next year, the 'individual and home based business' category will be changed to 'individual and small business with no employees on payroll,' with the same $50 price tag, and all other business memberships once again paying $100.

Meetings will continue to be held on the first Wednesday of each month at noon.

Two new bylaws were approved, the first giving the executive the power to enter into an operating line of credit on behalf of the chamber. The second bylaw looks ahead to the future and gives the executive the power to borrow funds in amounts approved by the majority of the membership in attendance at a regular meeting, after all chamber members have been given a minimum of 14 days written notice of the motion by email or fax.

The passage of the first bylaw will allow the chamber to deal with the $150 line of credit in a more efficient manner, and Nielsen says, "we need to deal with it, then we can get back to serious business. There are tough times out there."

Last year's financial statement was presented by Geoff Hyslop and showed a deficit of just over $3,000. Expenses for repairs and maintenance of the EcoCentre were higher than usual, and included emergency furnace repairs and a change of all the building's lights to LED, a move that the president feels will make a big difference to utility bills. In fact, he said, the EcoCentre's electric meter was changed recently because the electricity providers had noticed a major drop in usage and thought the meter might be faulty.

ELK POINT 4-H MULTI CLUB speakers and presenters were congratulated by their judges on an excellent communications event. Left to right are MC MacKenzie Evans, Lyon Cueva, judge Gloria Lecopoy, Wolke Cueva, judge Shani Jurak, Darianna Boorse, Nolan Vogel, Cleaver Shyanne Klatt, Shaylyn Klatt, judge Melanie Poulin, Eros Cueva, Cleaver Jove Boorse, Morgan Evans, Carson Vogel and Graham Lenthall.

Family Day to focus on A. G. Ross Arena 'family', volunteers

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Monday. Feb. 15 is Family Day, and one of the biggest extended families around is the 'family' made up of all the hockey players, from micro novice to adult, figure skaters, coaches, parents and volunteers who have made the A. G. Ross Arena their home away from home over the past 44 years, since it first opened its doors.

Like many families, this huge 'family' got its beginnings long before that time, when it was just a twinkle in the eye of those who conceived the idea of having an indoor ice rink for the community. This may have taken place when some of the hockey moms of that time went to other communities and admired the facilities they had, or, as is rumored, at a party where hockey dads challenged each other to put up some cash for the project, or maybe it was a combination of both. Whatever the circumstances were, it was the beginning of a long and involved process that took dedication, determination, endless rounds of fundraising and what former Elk Point Mayor Ed Buck called 'sweat equity'.

Almost four and a half decades later, we all know that all the labor those tireless volunteers put into giving birth to this dream has resulted in enjoyment, entertainment and exercise of three or more generations of Elk Point and district residents, who over those years have become part of the AGR 'family'.

Volunteering is still alive and thriving in Elk Point, and when some of the volunteers from those long-ago days put out a call for assistance in planning an event to celebrate the arena's beginnings, the community was ready and willing to get on board and help plan a fitting tribute.

It has been a long-standing tradition in Elk Point for the Town to host free public skating and a free lunch at the arena on Family Day. This year's celebration will add a 'family reunion' of all those who know and love the A. G. Ross Arena, complete with a slide show and time to share stories about the early days, a special performance by the Elk Point Skating Club, and a hockey game that pits Elk Point Emergency Services, including representatives of the RCMP, EMS and Fire Department, against the Elk Point Hockey All-Stars, made up of kids from the minor and pond hockey groups. A puck toss and other special events will be featured during the intermissions.

It all starts at 11 a.m., with the public skating, lunch and reunion, with the hockey game slated for 2 p.m. Come on down and join the fun – all generations welcome!

Elks lead playoff series

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The Elk Point Elks are three games into this year's first SaskAlta playoff series, and are currently leading two games to one.

The series started Feb. 3 in Hillmond, where the Elks downed the Hitmen by a 4 – 1 margin. Myles Whitford opened the scoring on a power play, off assists by Sean Joly and Jason Kalynchuk, midway through the first period. After a scoreless second period, Kris Koep started off the third with another power play goal, assisted by John Schmitt and Joly, with Hillmond scoring a power play goal of their own just 18 seconds later. Koep would add a third Elks marker with a minute and a half remaining in the game, assisted by Grayson Brown and Joly, while Whitford made it 4-1 with an empty netter, unassisted, less than half a minute later.

Friday night's home game was much closer, with Hillmond wasting no time answering Lee Letestu's opening goal, assisted by Kalynchuk and Devin Moneta. Hillmond added two more in the second period, taking a 3-1 lead, but the Elks came into the final frame with new determination and hammered in four goals in three minutes and three seconds, Letestu's second of the game assisted by Whitford and Jordyn Wozniak, Matthew Boulianne scoring on a power play off assists by Brown and Jordan Krankowsky, Wozniak scoring unassisted and Moneta assisted by Whitford. Hillmond managed one more goal, while doing their best to keep the rapid firing Elks from adding to their lead.

Speakers

Elk Point 4-H Beef Club held their event at the Christian Community Church, with Mathew McAnally introducing the six speakers and one individual and one team presentation

Lexi Wirsta spoke about the life and career of Elvis Presley in her speech, 'The King,' and followed that up with an impromptu about her favourite animals to place first in the Junior division for a prize sponsored by Knotty Boyz Embroidery. Jayci Marcoux placed second with a prepared speech about 'My Best Friend Rooster,' her horse, and an impromptu about her pet dog, to win a prize sponsored by Elk Point Insurance.

Macey Ann Marcoux won the Intermediate first prize, sponsored by Signatures Collision and Frame, with a very interesting speech on 'The World of Genetics' and an impromptu on tobogganing, with second place and another prize from Elk Point Insurance going to Dallas Bristow, who spoke on 'The Seasons' and his favorite holiday destination.

Sisters Ashley and Nicole Bristow teamed up for the winning Senior Presentation, with a slide show and display of souvenirs from last spring's 'Trip of a Lifetime' to Paris, to win the ATB Financial award. Roy Tymko demonstrated 'How to Build a Computer on a Budget' to place second and take home the TD Canada Trust award.

Judging the event were Glenda MacNeil, Sara Hochachka and Lynn Usenik. Usenik said that the speakers "all did a really great job," and suggested that they make more eye contact and "make sure your smile."

Perennial 4-H volunteers Lucille Smith and Ellen Seward were the teller and timer while 4-H members Heidi Tymko and Kailey Wirsta served as the impromptu tellers for the afternoon,

Enduring legacy

Many of us aspire to leave a legacy for future generations, but in this area. Few have left one that has had an impact on this community larger than those who helped the A. G. Ross Arena become a reality.

Since the arena opened its doors in 1972, generations of youngsters and adults have enjoyed what the arena had to offer: hockey, figure skating, skate-a-thons, ringette, rodeos, 4-H shows, agricultural fairs, quilt shows, trade shows, car shows, pancake breakfasts, beerfests, Oilmen's golf banquets and other activities and events in between.

All the planning, fundraising, physical labour and paperwork that went into the original project has been followed by decades of booth shifts, more fundraising worrying about huge mortgages and the lack of volunteers to keep the facility operating. When the going got tough, the tough kept going, and somehow convinced others to get on board and share the load.

Thanks to all those who persevered and continue to do so, to make this cornerstone of the community an ongoing success. We appreciate your efforts!

Way Back When...

Establishment of the Elk Point Recreation Board

This special report is contributed by the Elk Point and District Historical Society in conjunction with the upcoming celebration of the A. G. Ross Arena family.

ED PANKIW
From Elk Point Reflections, written in 1977

The Recreation Board was established in 1968 by the Town of Elk Point. The purpose of this board to implement and pursue a recreation program for the town of Elk Point. The board consisted of five members serving without pay, who were appointed by resolution of the council.

Inaugural meeting of the first board was held at the F. G. Miller High School on September 6. 1968. Officer elected: Chairman, Ray Hellquist; Vice Chairman, Des Berghofer; Secretary, Ed Pankiw; William Milholland and Oron Davis. council representatives.

Initially, the board circulated survey forms to town and district residents to determine what programs should be implemented. Interest was indicated in minor hockey, Ukrainian language, physical fitness, and dressmaking: pro- grants in these were started.

On January 29, 1969, the board informed town council that, due to public demand and a necessity for entertainment, serious consideration should be given to building an arena. Considerable work was then undertaken by the board, visiting existing arenas, investigating costs and plans. Because of the size of this project, the Recreation Board felt that an Arena Board should be set up separately to undertake this task, and this was done.

On November 5, 1972, David Petrosky, representing Elk Point, attended a meeting in Two Hills, and committed our town to enter a senior hockey team in the Centennial League. It was felt that there was definitely enough interest in our town to form such a team and that it would provide good spectator entertainment. Barry Golberg was appointed as coach of the team to be known as the "Bucs".

Additional programs implemented in later years: workshop clinics, adult school classes, broomball, crafts, and the Elk Point and District Minor Hockey Association.

The proudest hockey dad in town

JENA COLBOURNE

Elk Point's Mark Letestu's Bonnyville Jr. A Pontiacs' jersey, number 11, was retired on Jan.30 at the R.J. Lalonde arena in Bonnyville. I had the opportunity to chat with Garth Letestu prior to the ceremonies.

The pride was beaming as his stood pre-ceremonies looking on to the ice surface at the R. J. Lalonde arena with wife Deanna. "Just so proud. It's a lot of hard work and a lot of sacrifice, from mom and dad and him. He had to do a lot on his own to get there," Garth is all smile when talking about his son. Garth always knew Mark would play hockey, he never imagined it would be in the NHL, but he knew there was something talented about his boy, "the first game he played in Dundurn (SK), he got the puck in front of the net, and all these little kids fell down in front, Mark took the puck, went around the net and scored from the other side. Then I knew he was going to be a hockey player." A wrap around at four when most were mastering not falling. "He was thinking the game then!"

Mark will be the first to tell you the NHL wasn't on his radar until it actually happened. Dad Garth says it was the same for him, "we never-ever thought he would play in the NHL, it was unreal. We were headed to Winnipeg to see him in an American Hockey League game and that's when he got his phone call. Then it was 'there you go! He's going to make it!'"

Mark is a true believer in hard work, he shows it every time he steps on the ice, and these are lessons he learned at home. To the hockey parent that believes there's something special about their kid, Garth says don't give up.

"Never give-up, but always have an open mind. There's so many roadblocks and obstacles, it's all about commitment and sacrifice. Even then, sometimes you gotta get lucky and someone's got to believe in you."

If Garth made sure to teach his boy anything about the game, it was to cheer for Montreal. The Habs were the Letestus' team, up until Mark put on his first NHL jersey, says Garth. "Sometimes I have to forgive the past, in order to celebrate the future," laughs Garth. Game 7, Stanley Cup Final, Edmonton vs Montreal, who will Dad cheer for? "Depends who Mark's playing for, he could be playing for Montreal by then," laughs the proud father, who ultimately, like any parent, supports his kid no matter what... even if he isn't donning the Canadiens jersey.

With the Oilers only two and half hours away, and three grandchildren, along with Mark and wife Brett, something tells me Garth is extremely happy to have his boy wearing the copper and blue.

Provincials

Not this time, not in our barn, these boys came prepared for a battle and battle they did. Right off the opening faceoff, the play was in the Smoky end of the rink, lots of physical play and bodies flying everywhere. Defenseman 'Tricky Nick' Tucker, jumping up in the play getting the first goal half way through the first, 'Awesome Alex' Hunter adding a goal and doing a sensational job of back checking in the last few seconds to save a goal and give the Avalanche a 2 to 0 lead after the first 20 minutes. Starting the second, 'Tricky Nick' with his second of the game, then Bowen Krider tipping one in to make it 4 to 0, and then another by 'Tricky Nick' to make it 5 to 0 after two.

The parents were starting to breathe a little easier in the third, but still keeping their fingers crossed until the final buzzer, the final score 5 to 2, the shots 60 to 23, the Avalanche winning decisively, and going on to the provincial finals in March now for sure; although they still have a series against Lamont to determine the zone champions. 'Dead Eye' Dylan Odgaard with three assists, rugged defenseman 'Warrior Warren' Ference adding a helper. Coming back after an off-season injury, goalie Shane 'Hercules ' Hurtubise didn't face an abundance of shots, but the timing of his saves was the key, when the game was still very close in the first two periods Smoky Lake could have changed the momentum at any moment with just one goal. On Sunday, the midgets defeated the provincial host team from Provost 7 to 2 here at home in league play.

This has been a terrific week for all of our provincial teams, not only did the midgets have a tense series, but the Atom No. 2 team had some great action as well and a very close provincial series against St. Paul. On Tuesday night here at home, there was excellent goaltending at both ends of the rink, but eventually sniper 'Mic Jager' Fontaine would find the mesh with one in the first period assisted by Kaleb 'Formula One 'Flamand and 'St Nic' Penner. That would be the only goal in the game right up until the final four minutes when 'Mic Jager' received a nice pass from Cash 'CC' Capjack and on the break away, slipped in a backhander. Thirty seconds later, 'Mic' set up 'Formula One' on the doorstep for one. Going back to St. Paul on Friday night with a three-goal cushion was a good thing for the Avalanche. More great goaltending in the second game, it was even closer, ending in a 2-all tie, with a goal from 'CC' and then 'CC' assisting on one by 'Mic', the Avalanche would tie the game but win the series and move on to the next round.

Not nearly as dramatic, but the Peewee Avalanche traveled to the Kubasa capital of Canada, Mundare, to play against Vegreville this past Wednesday, taking a 9 to 0 lead in the first period, then backing off somewhat and coasting to a 13 to 0 win, taking and the series in one game. The peewee team now has a bye until the final round, waiting on the winner of Thorhild, Marwayne or Wabasca.

The calm before the storm. The Bantam Avalanche provincial game against Wabasca here Saturday night was rolling along quite nicely in the first two periods while the game was still close, but, it turned real ugly, got very rough, chippy and penalty-filled once the Bantam Avalanche took a bigger lead in the third. The Avalanche, winning 9 to 4, are going back to Wabasca on a bus trip for the second game this coming Friday night. Point man Hayden 'Hot Wheels' Ludlage with a hat trick, Nick 'Sparky' Anderson, Chase Dorey and Dylan 'the Destroyer' Ference with two goals each. Angus McFarlane and Brad Canning with a couple of the helpers. Official game scorer Lisa Van Maarion was suffering with writer's cramp when this one was over.

Over in Marwayne on the weekend, the Micro Novice played in a tournament there. Braylee 'BJ' Lesyk with a hat trick, 'Wyatt Earp' Fontaine and Riley 'Coyote' Bourne with two each in their first game against Hillmond. Trace Morgan with a dandy assist, and just like his daddy Tyson, 'Notorious Nolan' Ballas with some great goaltending winning the heart and hustle. 'BJ' and 'Wyatt Earp' with a hat trick each in the second game against Bonnyville, Boe Johnson with an assist.

The Atom No. 1 had a busy eight-point week, winning four games in four days, the first over Frog Lake on Thursday night, then winning over Irma 4 to 0 on Friday night, then the best one of all, beating the team that defeated them in the provincial round robin, Marwayne, 4 to 1 on Saturday. And then another shut out, his second of the weekend for goalie Vanden 'Super Mario' Moroziuk winning over Paradise Valley 8 to 0 on Super Bowl Sunday.

After watching the U of A Panda women's team play the weekend before against the Calgary Dinos, the Peewee Girls Storm team seemed very inspired to bring their game to a new level and with an all-new winning attitude they traveled to Ardrossan on Saturday to play in a exhibition game, coming home with a huge 10 to 3 victory. Everyone on the lineup getting a point or two on the game sheet, Jenna 'Precious' Poitras with two goals and two assists. 'Sid the Kid' Sydnee Crawford with two goals, and an assist, Ashley 'Hacksaw' Hunter with a goal and an assist, Avery 'Whirlwind' Warawa with a goal and two assists, 'Gorgeous Georgia' Bendixen with a goal and an assist, Paula 'Hollywood' Hladunewich and her sister Alayna the 'Hornet' both scoring one each, Chloe 'Mouse ' Bendixen and RJ Pruden with a couple of assists each. Goaltender Heaven 'Brick House' Colbourne shutting the door and winning her second game of the season. Alayna ' Hornet' Hladunewich received the hard hat and was the Storm Trooper of the game for the Storm.

And now for the K. A. Campbell quote of the week. "Every time you are not practicing, someone else is." Last week's answer to "Strive for continuous improvement, instead of perfection." - Kim Collins.

Elks

The Hitmen were finally able to get their revenge on Saturday night when the Elks headed back to Hillmond. Chevy Botting opened the scoring on a power play a minute and a half into the game, assisted by Scott Ward and Brown, with Whitford, assisted by Moneta and Craig Dallaire, adding a second early in the second period. That was when the Hitmen started hitting back, scoring three in that frame and two in the third for a 5 -2 win. The fourth game in the series is Saturday at 8:30 in Elk Point.
